

NEWS

News Editor: Alexandria Mansfield - A.M.Mansfield@iup.edu
Lead News Writer: Stephanie Bachman - S.L.Bachman2@iup.edu

(James Neuhausel/ The Penn)

Many local farms and businesses offer fun, fall-themed activities during the month of October.

Local farms offer alternative Halloween festivities for students, community

By SETH WOOLCOCK
Staff Writer
S.M.Woolcock@iup.edu

Time moves fast in the life of a busy college student. Halloween will be in the rearview mirror before you know it. Thankfully, there is still time to check off some items on your Halloween bucket list.

Yarnick's Farm Fall Fun Fest is held right here in Indiana every Saturday and Sunday until the end of October. This family-owned farm is located at 155 Thomas Covered Bridge Road, right off Route 422 about five miles from the heart of Indiana.

Yarnick's can provide a whole day of fun with hayrides, a corn maze and even a Bates Motel-themed haunted house.

Hayrides, pumpkin patches and corn mazes are just a few of the Halloween activities offered around the area.

Even if you don't feel like being scared, Yarnick's might still have something for you.

They have a vast meat and vegetable market, a pumpkin patch and a bonfire with hot chocolate in the evenings.

(James Neuhausel/ The Penn)

If you don't mind a little drive, Scary Harry's, located in Homer

City, provides a spooky haunted walk.

Scary Harry's is more than just a walk through the woods.

You are taken on a walking path through and around three separate buildings, with uncertainty and fear luring around almost every corner.

The Coolspring Corn Maze in Mercer is one of the most highly regarded Halloween adventures in the state. It runs Friday through Sunday up until Nov. 6.

You might also want to bring your pokéballs along with you if you care to attempt the new Pokémon Trail.

Or, if you care to take on something less adventurous, the indoor hay walk or scenic hay ride might sound like a more appealing way to spend your Halloween.